

BARGAINING BULLETIN #6

Not Out of the Woods Yet

Since our last Bulletin, your NUFA Collective Bargaining Committee (CBC) has been busy. But while your CBC remains cautiously optimistic that a reasonable agreement is possible, we would like to remind you that we are not out of the woods just yet. The NUFA CBC and the Employer's bargaining team have agreed to take a brief hiatus from negotiations during the start of term, which is always a busy time for everyone. Meetings with the Employer will resume in September and much hard work still lies ahead of us. In the meantime, we would like to encourage the membership to continue showing solidarity with the CBC. United, we can achieve an agreement that is good for both students and faculty, who are, after all, the lifeblood of any university.
